The Board of Trustees of SAAD would like to invite you and any other interested colleagues to attend our Conference. This year we are looking at three areas of interest, which have been asked for by members of the profession. Our aim is to provide you with practical tips on areas where SAAD members have sought advice as well as showing what other anxiety management techniques can offer our patients. We have organised speakers who are clinically involved in the areas we have asked them to address, as well as being well recognised for their contributions to the debate in these areas.

The Speakers

Sheldon Collins

Having qualified from UCH Dental School in 1975 Sheldon established a practice where he first used IV Diazemuls sedation. In 1984 he purchased a practice where IV midazolam sedation was undertaken and has practised IV midazolam sedation since. In 2002 he undertook the Guy's Diploma, as well as establishing Roving Dental Sedation Services as a peripatetic service. Since 2005 he has devoted his time to the RDSS and now lectures on section 63 courses on IV sedation.

(Yusof) Joe Omar

Joe is a medical practitioner using conscious sedation for dental patients since 1984. With over 200 referring dentists in the London area, Joe has a vast experience base and has developed long treatment plans under sedation. He is on the Standing Committee on Sedation for Dentistry and on the Council of the Association of Dental Anaesthesia. Joe lectures on Sedation at the Eastman, UCL, and on Medical Emergencies at many national and international meetings.

André du Plessis

André gained both his BMedSci and MBChB degrees from the University of Pretoria. He has travelled extensively practising medicine. In the UK he has worked exclusively with the administration of conscious sedation. André holds a Diploma in Conscious Sedation and is presently enrolled in a Masters programme in Sedation and Pain Management. Since 2005 he has been coordinator of the Certificate programme in Conscious Sedation and Pain Management at Eastman CPD/UCL.

David Craig

Consultant/Head of Sedation & Special Care Dentistry, Guy's and St Thomas' NHS Foundation Trust. Member, Standing Committee on Sedation for Dentistry, Faculty of Dental Surgery, Royal College of Surgeons of England. Committee Member, SAAD, Dental Sedation Teachers Group. Immediate Past Chairman, National Examining Board for Dental Nurses.

Mike Gow

Mike is President of the British Society of Medical and Dental Hypnosis (Scotland), and has a Masters in Hypnosis Applied to Dentistry. He has appeared on BBC TV demonstrating hypnosis for pain control in dentistry. Mike works in private practice at the Berkeley Clinic, Glasgow and often uses hypnosis instead of, or in conjunction with, traditional conscious sedation techniques. He recently won Best Young Dentist – UK at The Dentistry Awards.

Dave Johnson

David Johnson is a Wolfson Foundation Scholar graduating from Cardiff Dental School in 2001, with a research background. He is currently working in the CDS, mainly treating children and special needs patients. He previously held an Honorary Clinical Lecturer position in Oral Medicine at Cardiff Dental School. He is fully registered with the British Dental Acupuncture Society, and has been using acupuncture as an adjunct to dental treatment since 2003. He is actively involved in practice-based research and audit within the areas of paediatric dentistry and dental acupuncture.

Diana Terry

Diana has been associated with SAAD for 15 years and works as a Consultant Anaesthetist at University Hospitals Bristol. She is an Educational Supervisor with the Severn Deanery and runs Courses at Bristol Medical Simulation Centre.

He qualified Edinburgh and worked in General Practice before moving to a career in Community Dental Service which has included the Maximum Security Psychiatric Hospital at Carstairs. Martin has qualifications in Public Health, Management and Law and completed the legal examinations for admission to the Faculty of Advocates (Scottish Bar). He regularly speaks and advises on legal and ethical issues and was appointed as a local adviser with Dental Protection in 2000.

Graham Manley

Graham is a specialist in Paediatric Dentistry, Dental Public Health and Special Care Dentistry.
